For Good Health
in Hot Climates
—take Sanatogen.

A chain is only as strong as its weakest link. In a hot climate the weak link in a man's Health is either his stomach, his nerves, or his blood. Each complaint renders him more liable to other complaints, so leading towards general debility.

Conquer that hot-climate debility with Sanatogen.

Step out of that vicious circle of exhaustion, "nerviness," and fevers, by building up your health and nerve strength.

Sanatogen infuses into the blood the very elements—phosphorus and albumin—which are vitally necessary. Sanatogen increases the quantity of red blood corpuscles, builds up strong nerves, and invigorates the whole system. The weakest stomach can easily digest it.

That great medical paper, "The Lancet" writes: "There is abundant evidence of the value of Sanatogen as a restorative and food, and more particularly in cases of general debility."

Start taking Sanatogen to-day. It will give you better Nerves and better Health and thus a better Life.

THE RELEASE OF POLITICALS

PANDIT NEHRU OUTLINES CONGRESS POLICY

Difficulties May Arise In Way Of Release

(Associated Press)

Ahmedabad, Sept. 14.

"The Congress demand for the release of prisoners includes all political prisoners, including those convicted for acts of violence", writes Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress President, to Mr. Bhogilal Gandhi, a Socialist member of the Gujarat Provincial Congress Committee, who asked for clarification of the congress policy regarding political prisoners. "Occasions may come", adds Pandit Nehru, "when there will be difficulties in the way of such release and the Provincial Government may not be able to bring it about easily. But it is the duty of every Provincial Government to honour fully the Congress pledge and if it cannot do so finally, then it must make the position clear."

ANDAMANS POLITICALS

It is understood that Mr. Sarat Chandra Bose, Leader of the Opposition in the Bengal Assembly, received a telegram from Mr. Gandhi relating to the problem of the Andamans political prisoners and that Mr. Bose telegraphed to-day to the Andamans politicals conveying the text of Mr. Gandhi's telegram.

Andaman Hunger-Strikers

Rajshahi, Sept. 14.

Replying to a telegram from Mr. Surendranath Moitra, M.L.A. requesting him to intervene again to end the hunger-strike of the remaining seven Andaman prisoners four of whom are Bengalees, Mr. Gandhi wires: "I am in constant telegraphic communication with the authorities and prisoners".

SEPARATION OF JUDICIAL FROM EXECUTIVE

U. P. Premier's Assurance To Assembly

(Associated Press)

Lucknow, Sept. 14.

For the first time in the present Assembly a division was claimed by the Opposition on a cut motion under demand for general administration urging the separation of the Judicial from the Executive, the cut motion being rejected by 116 to 36 votes. Both sides were convinced of the urgency of the reform.

The Premier assured the opposition that the Government had decided to give effect to the suggestion and were considering practical measures in that connection.

Dr. Katju, Minister for Justice, assured that none could be more keen for this reform than the Congress Government. In view of the Premier's assurance he would convey the Assembly's view regarding the reduction of civil service posts.

A cut motion demanding the abolition of the Board of Revenue was not moved. Mr. Rezwanullah, however, pressed his motion cutting huge expenditure on the Board of Revenue, which was lost without a division

Consideration of all demands fixed for to-day not being over, the speaker ruled that the only demand under discussion should be put to votes to-day, while the rest fixed for to-day would have to stand over till the last day of the days allotted for budget discussion.

Certain lands were then sanctioned by the council to be taken over by the Corporation for the construction of a building to the Corporation High School, Nungambaukam.

Mr. Aziz Mahomed Ghouse wanted to get legal opinion on the matter.

Mrs. Ammu Swaminathan said that she did not understand the opposition.

Mayor :—It is no opposition.

Mrs. Ammu Swaminathan :—...ggestion.

...e item was passed.

Advertisement Tax

The question of the levy of Advertisement Tax was then taken up.

It was proposed by this measure to levy a tax on every kind of advertisement displayed to public view in any manner, in any place whether public or private, subject to certain exemptions.

The levy of the tax was considered to attain three objects (1) to secure a new source of revenue to the Corporation (2) to exercise a healthy control on indiscriminate display of advertisement matter and (3) to prevent ...nseemly and ugly advertise...nts in certain important ...ces in the city and generally to help to beautify the city as a whole.

Certain rates were then proposed, and Mr. M. Damodaram Naidu moved that they be accepted. It was duly seconded.

Mr. Aziz Mahomed Ghouse pointed out that inasmuch as they collected profession tax from ...en connected with commerce and trade on their earnings they would be taxed a second time for the means they took to earn their income. He warned the house that in order to eat more fruit, they should not dig round the root of the tree too much lest the tree should perish. He said that the rates proposed were excessive, and they must be reduced still further.

Mr. G.E. Walker said that out of protracted negotiations the present proposals had been evolved. They might not meet with universal satisfaction but they did represent the greatest common measure of agreement between the council and those who had to pay the tax, and they formed a workable proposition.

Mr. C. Basu Dev was unable to congratulate the Standing Committee on its proposals. It was found in the note circulated that the committee drew its inspiration from Bombay. He said that no tax should be laid on a productive industry and this tax would hit hard the cinema trade and 50 per cent of the revenue came from that source. He deplored the proposal to levy a tax of Rs. 3 a year on poor orphan boys who distributed hand bills.

Mr. A.R.V. Achar wanted to include the tram car posters and the posters within the Railway stations under the proposal.

In the discussion that followed, Mr. Basu Dev was criticised.

After the reply from the mover Mr. Basu Dev rose to offer a word of personal explanation.

The Mayor :—You cannot.

Opposition Voices :—He must be allowed to offer an explanation.

Voices from the Congress Side :—He cannot and he must not.

Mr. Bashyam :—Order. Order.

The levy of the tax and the proposed schedule were then put to vote and carried.

Abkari Revenue

The Council then took up for consideration the following resolution:

"As a mark of sincere appreciation and identification of the Corporation of Madras with the policy of prohibition of the present Ministry and as an earnest of its desire to co-operate for making the policy a success, the Corporation resolves to make the following offer i. e., to remit the sum of Rs. 13.610 and odd payable to the Corporation by the Government in respect of compensation tax on places used for sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquor.

"The Corporation further resolves to request the Government to introduce the beneficient measure of prohibition in the City at an early date."

Mr. K. Bashyam, in a note circulated previously had suggested to increase more the revenue to the Corporation. He had said in the note as follows:—

"In a note to the Taxation and Finance Committee I suggested the levy of Annas 4 per Rupee of Abkari revenue realised in the City by the Government from all toddy, beer, gunja shops as such a levy was permitted by the Government itself (vide) Financial Relations Committee Report. By levying such a fee the Corporation can realise Rs.9 lakhs as the total income of Government from the above amounts to about Rs. 36 lakhs a year and the Government must be pressed to allow this to be done specially as it does not touch their revenue but only adds to the cost of the consumer, a thing not undesirable by itself."

In moving the resolution, he said that since the preparation of the note the Congress Government had come to power and therefore the whole atmosphere had changed.

It was seconded.

Mr. C. Basu Dev supported the resolution. He wanted to say that Mr. Bashyam's note did the utmost discredit to the Congress and to Mahatma Gandhi. It was just like him who spoke at the Municipal conference 'suppressio veri suggestio falsi'. At one stage, they stated that they did not want the dirty tainted money derived from Abkari and at another time wanted more money from it.

Mr. T. R. Kothandarama Mudaliar said that he would like to caution the Congress on the precipitated steps they were taking. It looked as though the Taxation Finance Committee was after a gold mine but discovered only a rock burst. Why were they then in sack-cloth and ashes. They could afford to wait a little before they threw away their money into the general deluge. He wanted to point out that they were closing only toddy and arrack shops and the present revenue proposed to be given up was not given to the Corporation in compensation for toddy or arrack shops. They were therefore making the finances of the Corporation only the poorer.

Inconsistency In Proposal

After some more speeches, Mr. J. A. Rowland Knox said that he found inconsistency in the proposal. In July of this year, a note was prepared to ask for two lakhs: the same gentleman who had framed the note then wanted now that they should forego a certain sum due to the Government. The present was not a time when they could not afford to forego any money. The monsoon was coming and their question was how to provide shelter for the homeless poor in the city. Further, the duty of the representatives of the Corporation was not to forego money by that kind of move. Their function was different from making political stunts. The suggestion was a wicked one and the Corporation was badly in need of funds, and the present funds proposed to be foregone would go a long way to ameliorate the lot of the poor.

Mr. Aziz Mahomed Ghouse said that the Rajah Saheb of Bobbili had himself sacrificed for the cause more than Rs. 10,000 that was, however, he thought, no reason to impose his personal opinion on others. The Corporation had no right to forego that money.

Some more speeches were made and closure was applied and carried.

Mr. Bashyam then rose to reply.

Mr. C. Basu Dev pointed out that when closure has been applied, no speeches should he allowed.

Mayor :—He has got the right of reply.

Mr. C. Basu Dev : Is that your ruling ?

Mayor :—Yes.

After Mr. Bashyam's reply the resolution was put and carried. Poll was demanded. The Mayor announced that 35 voted for and 7 against.

Those who voted against were :—Messrs. Aziz Mahomed Ghouse, T. R Kothandaram Mudaliar, C. Mainprice, G. E. Walker, H. B. Toothill, J. A. R- Knox and A. A. Hayles.

Among those who voted for the resolution and sat on the opposition were Messrs. C. Tadulingam, C. Basu Dev, S. Parthasarathy, N. Sankaran and Malang.

The House was then adjourned.

PRIME MINISTER ENTERTAINED

Hindu Good Templars' "At Home"

Madras, Sept. 15.

The Hindu Good Templars' League were "At Home" yesterday to the Hon. Mr. C. Rajagopalachariar, Prime Minister. The Premier was accompanied by the Hon. Mr. V. I. Muniswami Pillai.

In the course of an address presented to the Premier, the League assured its co-operation in making the policy of prohibition a success.

The Premier, in the course of his reply explained his personal responsibility for introducing the policy of prohibition and his firm resolve to push through the programme.

He said there were people who thought that the excise revenue of Rs. 5 crores which could be utilised for education, water-supply and maintenance of roads should not be given up. He would tell those people that they were murdering not only the souls of the drunkards but also their innocent families and robbing them of their properties. He thought that it would be worthwhile for him to hold office even for a few months to make a trial of strength against the evil. It was this joy which kept him up in spite of the difficulties presented by people who feared the consequences. He would, however, tell the Good Templars that the people who would otherwise have been opposed to the scheme were extending to him a great deal of more goodwill than possibly he deserved. People to whom, politically speaking, he had done the greatest amount of injury and who should be bitterly feeling that they had been ousted from their places were kind and affectionate to him.

Concluding, the Premier said that he selected Salem for giving effect to the Prohibition scheme not because of his love for his own district but because he had received overwhelming encouragement from his friends. Selection of minor places would lead to competition. There would be so much fight that drink shops would be going on. If the scheme had been introduced in a district like Vizag, and if it failed there, he might have to blame somebody else. If it failed in Salem, he would have to blame himself. It was not going to stop there and it would jump like 'Hanuman' and would go to other districts. Next year it might be introduced in Madras. Then the Hindu Good Templars would have full work. They would have to move among the poor people and probably get beaten by angry crowds. The area in Madras was so compact that people who drank would be easily known. They could go to their houses and preach. Not only this organisation but also other organisations should help in the cause.

With a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. P. Sambanda Mudaliar, the meeting terminated.

Swaminatha Iyer, one of the oldest citizens of the town thanked Mr. Fossil on behalf of the public for having roused their enthusiasm for library movement.

He narrated that the various benefits derived by the members of the All-India Union in such a short time after the Madras tangle are all due to the organisation. He encouraged the members present to be loyal and active as members of the All-Indian Union.

The following resolutions were unanimously passed at the meeting :—

(c) This Union requests the General Secretary to take vigorous steps in the matter of reinstatement of all the discharged candidates in Madras circle and wholeheartedly support the appeal made by him.

The Chairman Mr. Sadagopachariar explained with great fervour that the manifold benefits derived by one and all present were due to the All-India organization. Mr. Narayanachar and others spoke exhorting all to be loyal to the All-India Union and to pay up their subscriptions regularly thus co-operating with the office-bearers with all their heart and mite. They also thanked the General Secretary and assured co-operation to their utmost capacity.

There was an assurance from all quarters that the membership of the combined Union would swell to very nearly eighty and it is very good augury for a newly formed Union to begin with such a large number on its rolls.

NO TRU... TRAIN WR...

"Stones On Lines Too Sm... To Derail A Trolley"

(Associated Press)

Patna, Sept. 14.

Further enquiries made by the Superintendent of Railway Police, E. I. Ry., into the news published in certain newspapers that an attempt was made to wreck 105-Up Monghyr-Gaya Passenger between Sheikhupura and Kashichowk reveal there is no truth in the report that the train was approaching the spot at a break-neck speed and the driver, noticing stones on the lines, managed to stop the train before anything untoward happened.

The official report states that small pieces of ballast were noticed by the Peramanent Way Inspector while proceeding in a trolley long before the time train was due to pass and stones were removed by him. The authorities do not attach the slightest importance to the incident as the stones were too small even to derail a trolley and attribute the mischief to the pranks of children, which are of every day occurrence in the outlying areas.

KOTLA FIROZ SHAH

Memoir By Archaeological Department

(Associated Press.)

Simla, Sept. 14.

A Press Note issued by the Archaeological Department says:

How, in the course of a hunting expedition, Emperor Firoz Shah Tughlak noticed the famous Asokan Monolith now standing in Kotla Firoz Shah, Delhi, and how, having determined to remove it to his capital he devised ingenious plans and carried out the operations under his supervision, is discribed in a Memoir on Kotla Firoz Shah, just published by the Archaeological Survey of India. The description is taken from Sirat-i-Firozshahi, a Persian manuscript, 300 years old, now in the Oriental Library at Patna. It appears that the pillar was originally at the village topra in the Ambala District from where it was removed to its present site. The removal was effected by means of ropes and pulleys. Packed in reeds and hides, and loaded on a ten-wheeled cart, the pillar was transferred to a boat on the Jumna and conveyed to Delhi where it was unloaded and then raised to the site where the present building was gradually constructed.

The protected monument Kotla Firoz Shah has recently been put in order by the Archaeological Department, and with its spacious and well kept grounds adds considerably to the amenities of Delhi.

The Memior, which gives a description of this mediaeval site is in two parts, of which the first, from the pen of Mr. Page, late Superintendent of the Department, consists of a description of the foundation of Firozabad and the inner citadel known as the Kotla by the Emperor Firoz Shah Tughlak. A description of the principal buildings, tanks, gardens, etc., with which the Sultan adorned the capital and the subsequent history of the place occupy most of the Memoir, and a translation of the edicts of Asoka appearing on the pillar set upon the roof of the three-storeyed citadel is given in an appendix. The second part consists of a translation by Mr. Muhammad Hamid Kuraishi of the Archaeological Survey.

The Memoir has a number of plates, one of which is coloured, reproduced from the pages of this original manuscript.

MADRAS WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 15, 1937

MADRAS MEDICAL COLLEGE DAY

Major-Gen. E. W. C. Bradfield's Address

Madras, Sept. 15.

The Medical College Day was celebrated yesterday evening in the presence of a distinguished gathering of Professors and others. Major-General E. W. C. Bradfield Director-General of Indian Medical Service, was also present and later delivered an address. Sir Frank Connor, Surgeon General with the Government of Madras, presided.

Dr. A. Lakshmanaswami Mudaliar, Principal of the Medical College, presented the annual report which stated that there were 929 students in the College during the year 1936-37, of whom 233 were new students. There were 102 women students this year. The report added that the Women Students' Hostel required improvement and expansion. The Government had asked for proposals for the construction of a new hostel for women students and as soon as a suitable site was selected, the proposals would be submitted. Two important works, the necessity of which was being felt very keenly were the provision for a hostel for men students and the construction of a hygiene block.

After distributing prizes, medals and certificates of merit to the students, Sir Frank P. Connor, in the course of his speech, said that the problem before the students who would shortly start practice was how they were going to make a living in a country like India with a vast population. With so few doctors comparatively, the problem would look easy. But it was not really quite so. One of the reasons was that there were a large number of indigenous doctors who had a great hold on the public and these formed a serious factor in competition. Another reason was that the people of the province were poor and, even those who could afford to pay, had not developed that habit of engaging the service of qualified doctors and paying them.

He then pointed out that there were large schemes on foot requiring a large supply of medical men to rural areas. In the nineteeтes of the last century it was calculated that there was need for something like 800 medical men of the grade of assistant surgeons and over 20,000 medical men of the licentiate class to cater for the population of the province. It was obvious that no Government could provide high-salaried medical men in such enormous numbers. And that was where the students could come in and must come in.

Struggle For Employment

Sir Frank Connor referred to the strenuous struggle for employment among medical men in India and advised that none of them should lose an opportunity of accepting house appointments in any big hospital. Such appointments were valuable in that they gave an opportunity of securing training under the guidance of senior members of the profession.

The Surgeon-General deplored that the position of nursing was still in a very backward condition in respect of numbers and training and said that nursing required all the encouragement the doctors could give.

Major-General Bradfield, addressing the audience, said that in his tour throughout India, he had been struck with one important fact, namely, the remarkable solidarity of the medical profession. In every country members of the profession were animated with the same ideals and aims. Those ideals of the medical profession were prevention of disease, relief of the suffering and healing of the sick. He had put the ideals in that order because prevention of disease was the first aim of the profession.

Proceeding, the Director-General said that the attainment of those ends would largely rest with the students themselves. He asked them to remember that when they came to the Medical College their school days were over and that they should accept a full share of the responsibility for the future.

Sir Frank Connor, said the speaker, had referred to the possibilities for the future and had been a little gloomy over it. There was always a grand future for medical men wherever they were working. While some of them might devote their talents and time to research work, others might obtain higher degrees and attain the ranks of professors, but a great majority of them would have to make a name in private practice afforded them unending opportunities for service.

Mr. K. N. Alwa, on behalf of the Medical College Association, proposed a vote of thanks.

U. P. PROVINCIAL CONGRESS COMMITTEE

Resolutions Adopted

(Associated Press)

Lucknow, Sept. 13.

A number of important resolutions were passed at a meeting of the Council of the United Provinces Provincial Congress Committee held under the presidentship of Mr. Acharya Narandradeo.

It was decided that no separate Muslim Mass Contact Committee be appointed, but there should be a committee to pay special attention to that section of the population and those areas which are not yet sufficiently represented on the Congress.

The meeting insisted that the Cabinet members, while touring the districts, should inform Local Congress Committees and should not put up with Government officials as Congress workers and the public are put to inconvenience in interviewing them. The meeting further insisted that they should try to understand the locality and try to make them understand their policy.

The meeting drew the attention of the Cabinet to the Working Committee resolution to help the extra parliamentary activities of the congress. The meeting decided that no new member should be taken in the Congress Party in the U. P. Legislature without the previous sanction of the Council of the P.C.C.

The Council expressed concern at the "repressive" attitude of officials and drew the attention of the Cabinet to police trying to terrorise people and congress workers who are being implicated in false cases in certain districts. The meeting, in furtherance of the boycott of Zanzibar cloves, appointed Mr. Mahabir Tyagi as the "Boycott Officer".

The Council has decided to hold the annual Provincial Political Conference at Aligarh on Nov. 28 and 29.

For the mofussil members the Holidays form a good opportunity to visit the Library personally and to acquaint themselves with its rich resources. During their visit they may discuss their book needs with the Librarian and his staff, as such a discussion will greatly facilitate the selection of books for their reading and thus render the bibliographical service more exact.

Mofussil graduates who have not already become members are reminded that the Library is prepared to lend books to them. They may take this opportunity to visit the Library and realise the vastness of its resources. A personal visit to the Library will bring home to them the great advantages that can be derived by becoming members of the Library. The mofussil students who may be coming to the city will be missing their only opportunity if they do not make the fullest use of the library during such holidays. They can read in the library itself without any special formality. But those, that want to draw books for home reading while at Madras should bring with them a note of recommendation from their respective Principals and deposit a sum of Rs. 20 with the library. This amount can be withdrawn when they go back from Madras.

City students and graduates who are not going out for the holidays will find it worthwhile to visit the library on as many days as possible.

POPULATION DISBALANCE IN THE EAST

PROF. R. MUKERJEE'S ADDRESS

Minnesota, (By Mail).

Prof. Radhakamal Mukerjee of the University of Lucknow, India, was recently honoured by the University of Minnesota by the invitation to deliver the convocation address. He chose the topic of population disbalance in the East with special reference to the recent international situation. Dr. Mukerjee said that the phenomenal multiplication of numbers, since the Industrial revolution, in Western Europe which far exceeded that of Asia, the nineteenth century neglect of agriculture, over-industrialisation and the reservation of vast and inadequately utilised regions as the White Man's territory have been a constant source of race tension in the world. In the south and east of Asia 1.000 Million Asiatics representing half the human race, are today confined to an area representing only four percent of the globe surface and one sixth of the area occupied by 660 million Euro-Americans.

Oriental exclusion in Australia South and East Africa and the Americas has indirectly contributed to aggravate economic pressure and soil exhaustion in two to five-acre holdings throughout the east. In the continent of Asia itself restrictive emigration legislation has been passed by the Western powers in the Hawai and the Phillippines in French Oceania and Indo-China, in the Dutch East Indies and in Outer Mongolia.

Emigration Of Chinese

Large scale emigration of the Chinese and Indians to the undeveloped monsoon lands, where the Chinese already number eleven millions, and the Indians 3 millions, as fast filling up these areas. Indo-China is fast developing, Sannam and Tokin being already crowded; only Burma and Malay are relatively empty. Malay is being converted into a danger spot, vestibule of race immigration and conflict in the South-east. But more than Malaya, Manchuria, which is the gate way to Siberia and Mongolia, has already become the scene of conflicts as the Asiatic emigrants crowd together and compete with one another. The present drive of Japan to the Yangtse region full of minerals and cotton, may eliminate the only safety-valve of population pressure in China whose industrial advance depends mainly on these resources. With exclusion or restriction there will be a stronger tendency for the Asiatic to turn against the Asiatic.

In many pioneer belts in Asia, Africa and Oceania the white races cannot thrive and expand agriculturally, and have imported a plane of consumption which is in some measure artificial, and which besides in so far as it appropriates from the region more than it returns stints the opportunities of future generations. The oriental emigrants not only are at a far greater physiological advantage here but their crops and agricultural practices can be more successful in climatic regions similar to their home countries. Indian agriculture, for instance, could be applied successfully to considerable parts of northern Australia, East Africa and Central and South America; even as vast arid areas in North America could be brought under the plough if the Chinese and Japanese immigration be wisely planned and directed in the prairies.

Want Of New Land

The world needs every years 20 million acres of new land to cope with its annual increase of population Half of the human race has run short of cultivated land to the extent at least 20 per cent in the East, and its low purchasing power is to-day the major factor preventing revival of world employment and trade. Over population has thus been a serious menace in the World both in the West and in the East; and its evils have been aggravated by the comparative unprofitableness of agriculture, and by the racial discrimination policy, which stands in the way of afair distribution of the world's unutilised lands, which a scentific economic regionalism envisages.

The idea of an international planning in world agriculture and migration Dr. Mukerjee concluded, must materialise in order that the hostilities new brewing in the Mediterranean sea and the Pacific ocean may not implicate the nations in another world war.
